The Kingsland 55XS universal steelworker is a versatile and efficient machine used for punching, shearing, notching, and bending operations in the metalworking industry.

The machine is equipped with a hydraulic system that allows it to punch holes up to 57mm in diameter in mild steel and shear flat bars up to 400mm in length and 10mm in thickness. The notching station can produce rectangular notches up to 60mm x 80mm in size, and the bending station can produce angles up to 90 degrees.

The Kingsland 55XS steelworker also features a centralized lubrication system that ensures consistent lubrication of all moving parts, and a quick-change tooling system for easy tool changes. The machine is also equipped with a foot pedal for hydraulic control and a range of customizable options such as a programmable stop and a hydraulic hold-down system.

Other features of the Kingsland 55XS steelworker include a sturdy cast iron construction, a compact design that saves floor space, and a safety system that prevents accidental activation of the hydraulic system.

Overall, the Kingsland 55XS universal steelworker is a reliable and efficient machine suitable for a wide range of metalworking operations. Its versatility, efficiency, and compact design make it a popular choice for small to medium workshops, fabrication facilities, and maintenance operations.
