Designed for Simplicity

Welch Allyn Spot Vital Signs 4400 Device

Offering an efficient way to capture, access and document patient vitals so you can focus on what really matters — spending more time with your patients.

Your Solution for Detecting Hypertension

Simple

An intuitive, all-in-one design makes the Spot Vital Signs 4400 device easy to use for caregivers at any level. Add it to your existing workflow and begin exams quickly from the touchscreen.

Accurate

Trusted for clinical accuracy and consistent measurements,¹ the Spot Vital Signs 4400 device can help you make informed treatment decisions at the point of care.

The portable design may also help standardize vitals capture throughout your facility. Plus, blood pressure averaging is now part of the main workflow, enabling you to take and average multiple readings to allow for improved hypertension detection.²

Connected

Save time and help reduce data entry errors³ by sending patient data directly to the EMR.

Experience blood pressure readings you can believe in.

You may have heard about blood pressure averaging, but do you know how it can help improve hypertension screening? Relying on a single blood pressure measurement can be misleading.² First-time readings can yield higher results than subsequent blood pressure measurements.²

Additionally, it's common for variations to occur between readings captured in a series.⁴ That's why the American Heart Association recommends averaging at least two readings during a single visit.²

Blood pressure averaging helps provide a more accurate view of your patient's blood pressure, so you can detect hypertension with confidence.²
